Judge Brands Wines As Cause of Crimes

Wine causes more crime than hard liquors, Judge Paul S. Etheridge Sr. declared from the Fulton superior court bench yesterday in sentencing Ira Touchstons on charges of assault and battery.

"I have been on the bench only two months," the judge said, "but in that time I have become convinced the sale of wine is more dangerous than liquor. Defendants come before this court and swear they only had a little wine. With a little wine in them they then proceed to commit crimes, many of them serious."

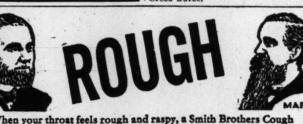

Touchstone, in entering a plea of guilty of assaulting Will Favors, admitted he had been drinking a "little wine" but contended he had never taken any whisky in his life. He was given an eight-month sentence to be suspended on payment of a $100 fine.

THE BRITISH TRADITION DISTINGUISHES

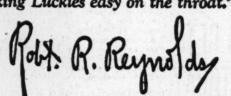

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Senator Reynolds' statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies-a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

"Two Southern traditions are oratoryand good tobacco. Lucky Strike shows me how to indulge in both. For this light smoke not only pleases my taste but leaves my throat in condition. Last fall in North Carolina-when I made over 100 speeches -I visited the Lucky Strike factory. I believe I discovered, in the Lucky Strike "Toasting" process, the secret of what makes this cigarette so considerate of my throat. I have been more than ever an advocate of a light smoke since seeing the extra care and expense devoted to making Luckies easy on the throat."

Old Tire Burners Face Prosecution

Persons found burning old rubber tires and batteries for fuel will be prosecuted in the future, A. W. Jones, city smoke inspector, warned yesterday.

City council, a year ago, passed an ordinance forbidding use of these materials as fuel, he said. Fine on conviction in recorder's court is $100.

Fire from these materials is ex-tremely dangerous as it gives off poisonous sulphur dioxide and a black smoke, Jones said. Persons are cuting up old tire rubber and peddling it as fuel in the city at 25 cents a bucket, the smoke inspector declared.

(UP)—Charges against the American Cotton Co-operative Association of
New Orleans of "under-classing" cotton were made in a report today by State Commissioner of Agriculture J. Roy Jones. He submitted the report to South Carolina's general assembly in accordance with a 1936 legislative resolution directing him to investigate and report upon the method of handling the farmers' cotton pledged with the federal government under the 12-cent loan plan of 1933, 1934 and 1935.

Thirteen charges were made regard-ing the handling of the cotton and recommendations advanced for legis-

The report charged that the 12-cent loan cotton which the farmer had been required to pay 43.8 cents per bale for classing and handling were "underclassed by the American Cotton Co-operative Association in 82 per cent of the 3,266 bales" which he was "able" to trace as having been bought from the farmers by the A. Institute Ballot Conducted Over Nation Reveals That 30 Per Cent of Party Members Who Voted for President Frown on His Plan.

HOW POLL IS CONDUCTED: The American Institute of Public Opin-ion, which correctly forecast the election of President Roosevelt last November, is taking a continuous poll on the supreme court issue. It is distributing ballots by mail and by personal interviews to 150,000 voters. The poll is conducted acrepresented in the results.

By GEORGE GALLUP. Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

NEW YORK, March 1 - President Roosevelt's proposal to alter the mem-bership of the supreme court has split the voters of the Democratic party into two camps, according to the re-sults of the American Institute of Fublic Opinion poll on the court issu The poll shows that approximately one out of every three Democrats who voted for Roosevelt in the November

"Are you in favor of President Roosevelt's proposal regarding the supreme court?"

While it has been clear for some weeks that the President's plan has split the Democratic members of the senate, causing an intraparty fight, the Institute is the first to measure the extent of the split among Roosevelt voters in the nation as a whole. Republican voters—those who cast their ballots for Governor Landon in November—are virtually unanimous in opposition to the President's plan to alter the court. The proportion of one in every three Democratic voters who oppose the plan is closely correlated with the division of sentiment among the Democratic senators in congress. There are 75 Democrats in the upper house. Informal polls of the senate members taken last week by two newspapers found between 21 and 25 Democratic senators definitely opposed to the court thange. This is about one-third of the total, or roughly the same proportion as among the Democratic voters in the nation.

There is no need for them to blast the plan publicly, it is said, when leading Democrats like Senator Clark, of Missouri, will do it for them. And, as today's poll shows. Schism Noted Before.

The intrapacty split among Democrats on the court issue is actually not surprising when viewed in the light of the past two years. It follows a definite pattern. The Institute, having polled the ration on numerous political questions since 1935, has found about one-third of Democratic voters consistently opposing the President on many specific issues. These voters may be called the "conservative wing" of the Democratic party as contrasted to the New Deal wing.

The existence of the conservative wing apparently sticks with the party, but between elections it is likely to oppose the liberal wing. This fact is easily demonstrated by studying the vote of Democrats in Institute survey in January, 1936, one-third of Democratic voters were opposed to the AAA in an Institute survey in January, 1936, one-third of Democratic woters were opposed to the AAA in an Institute survey in January, 1936, one-third of Democratic voters were opposed to the AAA in an Institute survey in January, 1936, one-third of Democratic voters were against a constitutional amendment to give congress more power over industry and agriculture. Jast summer a little more than one-third of Democratic voters were opposed to the analysis of Democratic voters were opposed to the AAA in an Institute survey in January, 1936, one-third of Democratic voters were opposed to the AAA in an Institute survey in January, 1936, one-third of Democratic voters were opposed to the AAA in an Institute survey said that, if there were only two parties—one for conservatives and one for liberals—they would join the conservatives.

Perhaps the most striking evidence of conservative sentiments within the Democratic party was a poll taken last March. Voters were asked which theory of government they favored—concentration of power in the federal government, of concentration of power in the state governments. Once again a slittle less than one-third of Democrats voted in favor of states' rights.

President Roosevelt's personality and political statesmanship which keeps the Democratic party together. It remains a question whether the Democrats can find a candidate in 1940 who will be able ot hold the conservative one-third in line with the liberal two-thirds.

Text of Message By F.D.R. on Sugar

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP)
The text of President Roosevelt's message to congress recommending an excise tax of not less than three-fourths of a cent a pound on new sugar follows:

The expiration on December 31, 1937, of the quota provisions of the Jones-Costigan act and public resolution No. 109 of June 19, 1936, and the existence of the public problems which have arisen as a result of discontinuance of the processing tax on sugar and benefit payments to sugar beet and sugar cane producers, make it desirable that the congress consider the enactment of new legislation with respect to sugar.

The Jones-Costigan act has been the sugar than the sugar cane producers, make it desirable that the congress consider the enactment of new legislation with respect to sugar.

The Jones-Costigan act has been the sugar can be sug maintain the domestic industry as a whole and to make the production of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principal other agricultural crops.

In order to protect the expansion of markets for American exports, I recommend that no decrease be made in the share of other countries in the total quotas.

It is also highly desirable to continue the policy, which was inherent in the Jones-Costigan act, of effectuating the principle that an industry which desires the protection afforded by a quota system or a tariff, should be expected to guarantee that it will be a good employer.

I recommend, therefore, that the prevention of child labor, and the payment of wages of not less than minimum standards, be included among the conditions for receiving a federal payment.

PROTECTION ASKED FOR PRODUCERS

I recommend that adequate provision be made to protect the right of both new and old producers of small acreages of sugar beets and sugar cane to an equitable share of the benefits offered by the program. In this connection I suggest also that you consider the advisability of providing for payments at rates for the militarian farms higher than those you consider the advisability of providing for payments at rates for family-size farms higher than those family-size farms higher than those applicable to large operating units. Quotas influence the price of sugar through the control of supply; consequently, under a quota regulation of the supply of sugar, a tax may be levied without causing any adverse effect, over a period of time, on the price paid by consumers.

I recommend to the congress the enactment of an excise tax at the rate of not less than .75 cent per pound of sugar, raw value. I am rate of not less than .75 cent per pound of sugar, raw value. I am definitely advised that such a tax would not increase the average cost of sugar to consumers.

An excise tax of this amount would yield approximately one hundred million dollars per annum to the treasury of the United States, which would make the total revenue from sugar more nearly commensurate sugar more nearly commensurate with that obtained during the period 1922-1929.

It is also estimated that the total income of foreign countries from the sale of sugar in the United States under the quotas system would not be less than that obtained during 1935, and, like the total income of domestic sugar producers, it can be expected to increase in future years as our consumption requirements expand. to increase in future years as our consumption requirements expand. In considering the enactment of any tax the congress has regard for its social and economic effects as its social and economic effects as well as its ability to raise revenue. The social and economic effects of an adequate excise tax on sugar are so important to the welfare of the various groups affected as to constitute a necessary complement to the quota system. For this reason I recommend that neither the quotas nor the tax should be operative alone. REDWOODCASE WITNESS

The Jones-Costigan act has been useful and effective and it is my belief that its principles should again be made effective.

I therefore recommend to the congress the enactment of the sugar quota system and its necessary complements, which will restore the operation of the principles on which the Jones-Costigan act was based.

SAFEGUARDS

REQUESTED

In order to accomplish this purpose adequate safeguards would be required to protect the interests of each group concerned.

As a safeguard for the protection of consumers I recommend that provision be made to prevent any possible restriction of the supply of sugar that would result in prices to consumers in excess of those reasonably necessary, together with conditional payments to producers, to maintain the domestic industry as a whole and to make the production of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supply of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principles of the supp

Peace Hopes Buoyed.

Hope for new international efforts to find a peaceful solution of the Spanish war, now seven and one-half months old, was buoyed by Foreign Minister Anthony Eden's declaration to commons that the government had proposals for halting the war "constantly in mind."

Authoritative sources said they believed Eden was considering new mediation attempts if and when the European neutrality committee's arms-andmen embargo shuts off foreign interference in Spain.

Joint efforts by France and Great Britain to enlist other European powers in support of a mediation plan several months ago proved futile.

The foreign secretary's assurances that "every effort will be made" to make the committee's embargo "as effective as possible" came as he prepared to send the first contingent of 130 British observers to Portugal to check up on the Lisbon government's compliance with the agreement.

Hitch in Plans.

But much remains to be done before the land and sea patrol of Spain and Portugal becomes effective, well-informed quarters declared. International diplomats acknowledged that the control plan, by which the neutrality committee bopes to localize the Spanish war, now seven and one-half manch has believed Eden was considering new mediations without prejudice. Eden told commons the Llaudovery Castle hit "a moored mine laid by Insurgent authorities in Spanish territorial waters." He said official inquiries still were being pursued but British shipping had been warned of "considerable risk" off the Spanish coast.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 2, 1937. GEORGE SOUNDS A WARNING

The straightforward and courageous dissent of Senator Walter F. zation of the supreme court carries particular significance because of his universally recognized ability, his pre-eminent position in the leadership of the senate and the wholehearted co-operation and support he has given the President in the past.

No member of congress has ren dered more valuable aid in the formulation and consummation of New Deal legislation than has Senator George, and the fact that he now opposes the President's proposal for changes in the structure of the supreme court cannot justly be said to reflect any swerving of his full loyalty to the Democratic administration, nor that his invaluable aid in forwarding such progressive policies as he deems within the scope of the letter and the spirit of the constitution will not be con-

It is not surprising that a profound student of the fundamental laws of the country like Senator George should express the fear that the proposal merely seeks to "change the decisions of the supreme court by change, wholesale, in its composition."

Neither is it surprising that, on the same day, the opinions voiced by Georgia's senior senator should be echoed by Senator Royal Copeland, another staunch and progressive Democratic leader, whose allegiance to the administration is also not to be questioned.

Senator George convincingly points the danger to the supreme court as one of the three constitutionally guaranteed and independent branches of the government in the statement that-

Stripped to the waist, it is the obvious purpose of those who demand this procedure to change the interpretation of the constitution, the construction of the constitution, hence the constitution itself. Anyone who judgment deposited save in his own bosom would be the first to desert principle of government as soon as was persuaded that such principle was becoming unpopular, judged by the vulgar test of popularity.

The people of Georgia, and of the country as a whole, have come to recognize the extent to which Senator George has the courage of his convictions. Moreover, there was Mrs. Simpson, Instead of frowning upon her association with Edward, the cabinet was rather glad that he had found a friend at last who seemed to have a steadying influence on him. Her predecessors in his favor had all contributed their share in turning the man into a nervous, half the time irresponsible wreck. He was beginning to "buck wreck. He was beginning to "lup and play the game" under wreck. He was beginning to "buck up and play the game" under her somewhat maternal care and affection, and everybody was glad of it.

But then he made one mistake. He thought the silent approval of Mrs. Simpson would be extended into an open approbation of her as queen, or at least as a morganatic wife.

What were his intentions? Mr. Baldwin worried and his cabinet discussed the matter of the sovereign's indiscretions in private.

The American press was roaring with excitement, although the British press, willing to perpetuate the good-boy myth forever, kept mum. The cabinet did not challenge the King.

That task was given to the church.

The cabinet could not say that for weeks Edward could not be found to sign important documents of state, but the church could openly question his conduct. He had alienated the affections of the wife of one of his sub jects. She was, moreover, a divorcee, that is to say a creature anathema to the church. One of the bishops threw the fat into the fire by saying the King needed the prayers of his peo-

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

PLAN WASHINGTON, March 1.—Mr. R's decision to take up the microphone was made after his senate manipulators reported they could get his court packing plan through. It may take 90 days, they said, but it can be done.

Their analysis, for his ear only, went something like this:

A maximum of 45 senate votes now appears to be opposed. Fully 15 of these can be made to change their minds by liberal use of political sugar or a political blackjack, or both. The final vote, therefore, will show only about 30 opposed.

A fillibuter will be conducted by most but and the seconducted by the seconducted by

A filibuster will be conducted by most, but not all, of the 30 who

This filibuster cannot be broken up by invoking the cloture rule, because the leaders cannot control the necessary two-thirds vote for that purpose. But with Vice President Garner in the chair, requiring the filibusters to live up to the debating rules every minute, the objectors can be worn down in 60 days or so.

If it does not work out this way, then a few of the filibusters can always be bought off with concessions.

This, at least, appears to be the plan, and all hands around the White

The plan is realistic all right, but it overlooks several controlling factors. To start with, 30 senators can kill any kind of legislation if they want to. They can tie the senate up for years with obstruction tactics, if they are sufficiently imbued with the belief that their course is right and necessary. These unthrottled 30 will be guided largely by popular reaction. If the packing plan is shown to be unpopular after its full implications sink in on the people, they will be able to make President Roosevelt surrender.

There is another big "if," founded upon somewhat the same premise. If Mr. R's coming radio campaign fails to develop the popular approval which is anticipated, he himself may initiate a new and more acceptable

The question is, therefore, yet to be tried at the bar of public opinion, and no one can say now what the verdict of the jury will be with any.

Talk of compromises is still immaterial. Any compromise which gives Mr. Roosevelt the control he seeks over the supreme court is a victory, and any which does not is a defeat.

HOUR The problems of John Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt have just started. Lewis is demanding a 30-hour week in the auto and coal industries, but the cooks of the new order who are preparing Mr. R's new NRA legislation do not talk about a 30-hour week. They say 40 hours, if anything—the principle incorporated in the Walsh-Healey bill. And, incidentally, Mr. Lewis must have heard Mr. Roosevelt say recently he would like to see the principles of the Walsh-Healey bill extended.

Thus, if Mr. Roosevelt advocates anything more than a 30-hour week, he will shatter the Lewis 30-hour week campaign before Lewis is able to get an agreement with General Motors or the bituminous coal industry, On the other hand, if Lewis wins a 30-hour week for any of his industries, he may tell the President, in whose campaign he spent 469,000 United Mine Workers' dollars, that the government owes $30-hour week to all industry.

This is said to be one good reason why the substitute NRA plan, dear to Mr. R's heart, has been delayed. Note—The Roosevelt-Lewis hours situation is probably the best current example of the problem involved in the latest trend of the new order. If General Motors, for example, gives $469,000 to the winning presidential candidate next time, it will be in a position to demand a 50-hour week from its government. This is what the real Liberals like Borah, Johnson and Wheeler are afraid of. They thought the President had enough experience with the last NRA to become convinced that federal moves to fix hours, wages and profits are likely to become a protectorate for monopolies, or, at least, will be a mess.

HUMOR The President stood it well, but not perfectly, when his court program was Joshed unmercifully at the White House correspondent's association dinner. His favorite radio announcer offered a program "packed" with amusement, said none of his actors was "over 70" and advocated increasing the Washington baseball team from nine to 15 members. A movie, anticipating his March 9 radio appearance, showed the President at the microphone, but, instead of "My Friends," out came the voice of a popular radio crooner singing "Home on the Range," as if it came from the President's lips.

Incidentally, a popular play in New York contains the following dialog: Daughter—"Those 15 judges have me worried. Do you think he will get away with it?"

Father-"Well, he has been able to get away with nearly everything so far . . . I do wish he would spend more time on his stamp collection."

Note—Presidential strategists do not appear to be excited much about the spread of humorous sarcasm, figuring, no doubt, that it moderates the sting of seriousness involved in the move.

Friend of mine, a most worthy man but not one who could be classed as extensively educated or deeply cultured, asked yesterday, "How many books would a man have to read to be well educated?"

The answer given was:
"Not many, if they were the right books and if he read them properly."
Then it was advised that, for training in the English language, a man who carefully and observantly and studiously read the Bible all through could become a pretty well educated man. Just because of the perfect language employed in that book.

Somebody said the proper reading and understanding of not more than a dozen books—the right ones—would make a man cultured and somebody.

What is the meaning of "kosher?" Ritually clean in accordance with the Jewish dietary laws. This does not mean that any other kind of meat is not clean in the usual sense of the term, but it means (1) that the animal is one designated in the Bible as a "clean animal"; (2) that the animal has been properly examined and slaughtered in accordance with the rules set forth on that subject and (3) that the animal is not "trepha."

To what animals do the Jewish dietary laws apply? FAIR ENOUGH By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Training of Young NOBE,

Is Big Subject

The care and training of the young is almost too big a subject for the hour that I have to devote to it today, but certain broad principles may be laid down briefly.

It is very bad for boys to sell or deliver newspapers, and publishers who employ them for this purpose are exploiters of child labor. However, authorities agree that it is just fine for immature boys to engage in amateur prizefight tournaments and get their teeth knocked out and their ears and brains scrambled in long seasons of training and competition under newspaper auspices. The starving, steaming and sweating of the young standard and starting of the young standard and starting in the wing the starving. newspaper auspices. The starving, steaming and sweating of the young tender physique, especially in the winter, in the process known as making the weight, tends to make little boys big and strong, and there is nothing better for the mentality of the little better for the mentality of the little gladiator than thousands of punches on the head in return for a $10 bath-robe, or a $5 trophy and a few news-robe, or a $5 trophy and a few newspaper clippings.

Punches on or about the eyes have a tendency to blur or destroy the vision so that the boys cannot see the morally unwholesome aspects of the world they live in and blows on the top or base of the skull produce a hygienic type of imbecility known as fighters' dance attended by muscular twitches, drooling and foolishness. Mr. Lawes, of Sing Sing, states that 69 per cent of the inmates of his institution have been newsboys at one time or another, but a little gladiator who got that way fighting for inexpensive trophies and newspaper circulation is almost certain never to go to Sing Sing.

Requirements The mental re-

Requirements The mental

Requirements The mental requirements are too Stiff stiff for punchdrunk veterans of the ring. Then, too, the future is very promising because the best of the little gladiators, after they have got through punching one another around for nothing, to build newspaper circulation, are fed into the arenas of the smaller professional fight clubs and associations with the ennobling company of chislers, racketeers, piece-men and lottery promoters as preliminary pany of chislers, racketeers, piece-men and lottery promoters as preliminary boys. The proudest alumnus of the circulation tournaments now finds himself prominent in the land in close association with one advisor who served a term for murder and another who is a leader in the numbers racket, proving that, although the environment of the street is very bad for newsboys and carriers, that the ring is entirely wholesome for little gladiators.

One of the most attractive aspects of the circulation prize fight tourna-ments is the strict amateurism of the little gladiators who fight without any thought of vulgar gain to sell more and more newspapers for publishers who thus are enabled to raise their advertising rates and pay bigger divihends on the control of the explained that the amateurism and the stockholders, and that the more blood the little gladiators shed in the ring, the more teeth they dribble into the water buckets between rounds, the more headaches they enjoy from wholes health-giving bloodclots on the lends on their stock. Perhaps it should be explained that the amateurism does some, health-giving bloodclots on the brain, the better the tournament from the standpoint of the stockholders.

Cotton the modern world would consume the stockholders.

Rarely does the sinister specter of professional greed rear its ugly head among the little gladiators who have no authority over either the gate receipts of the prize fights or the newspaper profits which they produce. But in one disgraceful case where a group of sordid mercenaries demanded a little spending money after three months training and fighting for $10 bath robes and $5 trophies, the offenders were drummed out of the amateur ranks by the altruistic newspaper in public disgrace. The very though that the little gladiators should participate in the profits was a great shock.

In brief, then, it is bad for boys to deliver newspapers after school in the vicious atmosphere of the American residential neighborhoods in which they live, but good for them to drive their immature bodies through three months of intensive training and headpunching to build circulation and profits for newspapers training and headpunching to build circulation and profits for newspapers paper stockholders.

The Sins of the Father's Master Are Visited on the Children

When a Russian aristocrat or one of the gentry offended the Bolsheviks and fled the country to escape their vengeance, he doomed his family and all of his relatives. They were shot for his sins. To civilized people that kind of vicarious revenge seems heathenish, but a little investigation reveals it with the method employed his taken and all leed investigation. figation reveals it as the method employed by statesmen of all lands.

When the Germans and Austrians and their allies were defeated in the World War, a few gentlemen who held high office met in France to decide in what manner the survivors should be punished.

Austria, it was declared, should pay great sums in reparation, as a convicted brawler pays a fine, and should lose the greater part of her territory, retaining only the great city of Vienna and a patch of land the size of a Texas ranch. The purpose, of course, was to punish a nation.

But there is no way to punish hills and rivers, cultivated fields, paved streets and buildings. And the Austrians who shared the guilt of starting the war were not on the battlefield or retired to private life and poverty.

On whose backs, then, should the stripes fall?

There remained only the women and children, the old people, men unfit to bear arms, and the soldiers, many of them blinded and maimed, who had unwillingly fought and suffered through four horrible years. They had been given no choice, for men who refused to fight were killed by a firing squad. These people of Austria, old and young, fit and unfit, were near starvation. The embargo on food was continued long after the war, and want of fats caused thousands of children to develop rickets and other vation. bone diseases. The hospitals were full of them.

In fact, the people were so destitute and helpless, and their plight so hopeless in a great city without land to support it, that the gentlemen appointed to collect reparations became agents of relief and charity

Of course history will say that England and France, with the approval of America, punished Austria. But that isn't true.

The people of England, France and America had no part in the business. A few men who were trusted with power punished helpless people

When we talk of nations doing this and that, we fool ourselves. A few unwise men who mean well play the role of destiny and the helpless millions endure the penalty and the blame.

I broke down in the fall of 1925 and came to Indian Springs with a promise to my doctor that I would bease all work.

I established a wood-working shop outfitted with motorized jig saw, circular saw, band saw, drill press, lathe, sanders and a full complement of stery manner of hand tool. For 11 years this has been my hobby. I spend from four to ten hours daily in the shop, fabricating bird houses, settees, occasional tables, foot stools, door stops, picture frames, corner brackets, whall brackets, whisk broom holders, neck tie racks, cigaret racks, pipe racks, book ends, mechanical toys, wargons, carts, wheelbarrows, cedar chests, and doll furniture, etc., etc., an average of five pieces daily, 1,500 in a year, and over 15,000 pieces the past decade. All this profusion of wooden things has been given away.

WEALTH IN MINERALS REVEALED BY VAUGHAN

Tech Professor Talks About Ceramics at Luncheon of Rotary Club.

Extensive development of Georgia minerals can lead to a new era of cosperity, Professor Harry Vaughan, of the Georgia Tech ceramics department, told the Atlanta Rotary Club yesterday at the Capital City Club.
"We constitute a debtor state in practically all of the wares which can be made of our inexhaustible supplies of kaolin or 'chalk,'" said Professor Vaughan. "Electrical, chemical, din-of kaolin or chalk, said troressor Vaughan. "Electrical, chemical, dinner and artware porcelain; earthenware, wall tile and floor tile; firebrick and a host of other products, including rubber tires, paper, oilcloth, linoleum and pigments, are manufactured using this kaolin, which occurs on the fall line extending diagonally across the state from Angusta through Macon to Columbus."

"What is Georgia doing regarding our market for enamel ware, glassware, abgasives and insulating products, such as glass or rock woll?" he said. "We have the technical ability and raw materials to produce these products in the center of a market consuming them to the extent of $50,000,000 per year," he said, "and yet we are importing them from other states and paying our hard-earned dollars at lower wage levels to obtain them."

Professor Vaughan mentioned prod-

states and paying our hard-earned dollars at lower wage levels to obtain them."

Professor Vaughan mentioned products from 12 industrial minerals for which there is here an adequate market to support a vast industrial expansion in the mineral industries of Georgia.

"There are more than six positions available for every graduate in ceramic engineering," he said.

"Every possible effort by individuals, civic organizations, industry and state and federal agencies should be directed to the greater utilization of our mineral and soil products in industry, producing the finished product within the boundaries of Georgia," he said.

Professor Vaughan thanked Hal Hentz and Frank Neely for Rotary Club support last summer of the educational movement called a junior mineral industries school, whereby 25 young men studied the mineral raw materials and industries of Georgia and the southeast.

Editor Constitution: The American market is equal to the combined market of all the rest of the world.

When the United States can produce, on an American basis, a product at unit costs equal to those of extremely low wage areas, the importation of such product is an economic waste of the first magnitude.

Florida, paying an American scale of wages and consuming the products of industry on an American scale, can produce sugar at a unit cost less than some of the very low-wage "offshore" areas.

We were told that if the eighteenth amendment was repealed the bootlegger would be put out of business and crime would decrease. However, facts prove the statement entirely false.

Georgians with average intelligence can see from the report (not made by a dry "fanatic") of the crime in Atlanta for the year 1932 of 25.010 cases tried, 12.068 were liquor cases. The army recruiting service, undoubtedly influenced by the "food appeal" publicity recently flooded through the south by the army press service, yesterday announced that good food was available for recruits wanted to fill vacancies in the New England area and the Panama Canal zone for infantry, field artillery, coast artillery, ordnance department and the chemical warfare service.

This area, it was said at headquarters here, has been assigned unfilled quotas of other sections, giving the south an additional percentage of enlistments for army service. More than 1.800 have been recruited in this section during the past four months, it was announced.

DURRETT FILES REPORT

T. J. Durrett Jr., fifth district di-rector of WPA, yesterday filed with Councilman John A. White, chairman of council's municipal buildings and athletic committee, a full report con-cerning changes made in electrical in-stallation at the municipal audito-

The Durrett letter justified every one of the items, which Dewey L. Johnson, superintendent of electrical affairs for the city, listed in a letter last week, and criticized Johnson for not making a thorough investigation before commenting on the work.

Durrett also said all changes which have been made in specifications have been agreed to by the architects, Dillon & Lewis, and by city authorities.

"Mr. Johnson is quoted in the press as declaring the electrical work in this building is defective," a portion of Durrett's letter read. "We wish to go on record now that all of this work has been, and is now being executed under the direct supervision of the architects and the city electrical superintendent with their approval in writing."

After noting the items which Johnson listed, Durrett ended his letter by saying "we wish to take this opportunity to thank you for the whole-hearted co-operation you have always given WPA."

The Morning After Taking

Colonel Elliott Back From Duty at New Orleans as Liaison Officer.

The army's job along the Mississippi river, in so far as the fourth corps area is concerned, ended yesterday with the return to Atlanta of Colonel C. B. Elliott, who was stationed at New Orleans as Major General George Van Horn Moseley's representative for liaison with state authorities.

The only regular army officer attached to fourth corps area headquarters remaining in the flood zone is Captain Harry Vitzthum, signal corps, who has directed communication activities out of Memphis. He is engaged now in preparing communication equipment for return. A majority of the more than 40 men as as isgned with him have returned to Fort Braggs, N. C., Fort Benning and Fort Monmouth, N. J.

The Red Cross in the lower Mississispip section in the fourth corps area also is beginning to wind up its work, and preliminary details for return of tents, bedding and other equipment sent out by the army are now being completed.

Elliott found his tour of duty in the New Orleans sector quiet, the main difficulty coming in the evacuation of backwater areas, where the pressure of water from the Mississippi forced subsidiary streams out of their banks.

There state authorities found some "stubborn individuals" who refused to leave, Red Cross authorities charged with the responsibility for feeding refugees politely informed these "stubborn individuals" that they could remain on their housetops, but would have to look out for the food problem themselves—that no food would be brought to them so long as they remained in a place of danger. They left.

Rerouting Details Yet To Be Decided; Fulton To Act on Proposal Today.

Action approving proposed trackless rolleys between College Park, Hapeville and Atlanta was postponed yesterday by city council pending further conferences this week with Georgia Power Company officials on construction and rerouting details.

Resolutions requesting the power company to install trackless trolleys on Highland avenue and a bus line through Techwood drive were approved.

The Fulton county commissioners are to pass on the proposed trackless trolleys to College Park and Hapeville at their regular meeting tomorrow. The commissioners have already expressed themselves as favorable to the proposal.

This modern streamlined, steel constructed trolley is quiet, has no gas fumes, and will have unlimited power, enabling the running time from Atlanta to College Park or Hapeville to be cut at least 10 minutes. The proposed change in route will be from Lee and Gordon streets in West End through to Peters street, then down Spring street to Union station back out through Forsyth street to Trinity and from there back to Peters street

Approximately $400,000 will be spent in the change of equipment and in construction. Each trolley will cost $13,000. The present operators of the Hapeville and College Park lines are being trained to handle the new valides.

The motion to table was a parliamentary move by proponents to prevent final defeat of the bill. It may later be called from the table, but experts said all that could be done then would be to complete the roll call and announce the result.

Previously Passed.

The bill had previously passed both the house and senate, but was reconsidered in the senate to attach an amendment exempting the "executive branch" of the government from its provisions.

When it was brought up again yesterday adverse debate was directed at the fact the schools were not exempted from its operation.

The so-called grandfather clause is a provision usually inserted in appropriations bills permitting the Governor to cut down appropriations to keep them in line with revenue.

It was a battle to exempt the schools from its operation that caused the 1935 legislature to deadlock and adjourn

Under questioning this morning, the prisoner said "don't talk to be about the boy."

Gancedo, in a formal confession made in jail before Judge Horacio Areco and Police Inspector Manuel Salomone, was asserted by police to have stated he killed the child Eugenio unwittingly.

Police said they believed this was done when the prisoner apparently gagged the child with the latter's own clothing to prevent him from crying out.

The prisoner, they said, declared "an unexplainable impulse" caused him to pick up the boy as he was playing and carry him to a cornfield.

When he reached the field, the prisoner was quoted as saying, he found the child was dead, adding, "I do not know how he was killed, but he was dead."

Follow this Practical Guide to Better Control of Colds

1. To Help PREVENT Many Colds

At the first warning sneeze or sniffle or the slightest irritation in the nose—quick!—put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril. This specialized medication is expressly designed for the nose and upper throat, where most colds start. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in their early stages.

2. To RELIEVE a Cold Sooner

Of course, some colds strike without warning, or get by even the best precautions. Then you need your dependable Vicks VapoRub. Go straight to bed and massage it briskly on the throat, chest, and back for 3 full minutes. Then spread a thick layer of VapoRub over the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. Long after you relax into restful sleep, VapoRub's famous poultice-and-vapor action continues hour after hour—loosening phlegm, easing your cough, relieving irritation, helping to break up local congestion.

Sickness from Colds Cut In Half!

The two simple steps outlined above, together with a few sensible health rules to build up and maintain resistance, are the basis of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. In the biggest colds-clinic ever held—with 17,353 people as subjects—Vicks Plan resulted in fewer colds and shorter colds. It cut sickness from colds more than half!

Most athletic coaches have a standing rule about Cupid. They instruct the gatekeepers that if a little pink-looking guy with a quiver of arrows flung over his shoulder comes around the park he is to be given the bum's rush out of there. The general idea is that marriage does an athlete no good

Dr. Mal Stevens, formerly of Yale and now of N. Y. U., recently took exception to the general opinion. His idea was that marriage, unless it was all a mistake from the beginning, was an athletic asset. Not a liability.

Dr. William Alexander, out at the Tech Flats, joins with Dr. Stevens. Dr. Alexander has but one complaint. "It often upsets their economic equilibrium," he said. This was a much better phrase than Dr. Stevens used in his entire article.

"Unless it does this to him," continued Mr. Alexander, "and unless the marriage is unfortunate, it usually helps the boy.

"We discourage it because the average boy in school has a difficult time paying his own way through. Often the problem of supporting a wife upsets his economic equilibrium and the boy drops out of school and gives up his chance at an education. For that reason we discourage marriage for our students.

"My advice to a boy is not to marry until he is out of school. But if the boy can manage it, marriage usually steadies him and makes him work harder at school and keeps him in better condition because he gets regular hours and living conditions."

Tech has had several married athletes who were stars. Bill Fincher was one. Al Staton was another. And on last year's team Fletcher Sims, Charlie Sims and Jim Morgan were benedicts who played good football.

OVER AT ATHENS.

Over at Athens Mr. H. James Stegeman joined in, saying: "If a boy is a good boy to begin with, possessing some sense of balance, and can afford it, then I do not think marriage is harmful. It steadies a boy. But generally, it is not a good idea for college students. It is not economically sound and may bring on an unfortunate reaction. For that reason we advise against it.

"Marion Dickens is the first one of our athletes I recall who was married. He was a halfback in 1929 and a good one. We have a few boys on our teams now who are married.

"Most of them solve it by letting their wives live at their parents' homes until they, the boys, have finished

Coach Harry Mehre was of the same opinion.

IN BASEBALL.

Mr. Earl Mann, who has been peering at baseball players for quite a span of seasons despite his own youthful number of years, had to think it over.

"Generally," he said, "I'd say the married ball player gives less trouble, is more ambitious and gives us

There are exceptions, of course, to the rule. Marriage handicaps some players who do not have a large amount of ability. They worry so much because of the added responsibility their play suffers. But on the whole, I think the married player is the more satisfactory one. He stays in condition and doesn't have to be checked in at night. He's less likely to go on wild parties and keep late hours."

"But," said Mr. Mann, mopping his brow, "when an exception comes along he is a headache. A very great headache. "In fact," said Mr. Mann, "just thinking about some of the exceptions we've had gives me a headache and

THE PRIZE RING.

Marriage is supposed to be poison to the prize ring boys. Yet the comparison is hardly fair. And even there are some very stout arguments on the side of Dan Cupid.

Jimmy Braddock. married for many years, made his great comeback to the world's championship with his wife and three children as the ones made most happy. Max Schmeling has done his best fighting since his marriage be in better condition." Tunney waited until he had made his million dollars. Dempsey was already past his fighting peak when he married Estelle Taylor. In most any other sport there are examples of competitors who achieved success despite or because of marriage.

Dr. Mal Stevens and the gentlemen who support his theory, seem to be practically without serious opposition.

Edgar Allen, secretary of the Knoxville baseball club, thinks if the Crackers had one more Smokie player, namely, Lefty Leo Moon, there would be no question of them winning their third pennant in a row.

Allen, Bob Wilson, sports editor of the Knoxville News-Sentinel, and the writer met in a room at Knoxville in which basketball talk assailed the eardrums with unceasing fervor.

So there was nothing to do but repair to another part of town for the purpose of jumping the season and violating all ethics by talking baseball.

"Haven't heard a thing about it," declared Allen. "We're counting on Oana, Beattie Feathers and Earl Webb giving us a powerful outfield. I Feathers, in center, will supply the speed. All three are heavy hitters," Somewhere in the talk there was mention of a $50 fine Oana drew for drinking a bottle of beer last year. The idea was advanced that this may have accounted for his poor showing at Syracuse. That is, the fine, not the beer. He was traded.

Allen is of the opinion that with the proper handling, Oana, the former Cracker, will go to town for the Smokies.

The Wildcats from the Bluegrass led throughout the championship battle to win their third title in the history of southern basketball.

Tennessee won the crown a year ago, defeating Alabama in the finals, 29 to 25, but the 1937 production of Coach Blair Gullion proved no match for the sharpshooting team from Lexington, coached to the championship for the second time by Adolph Rupp.

"We played a good ball club," said Gullion. "Lack of reserve strength is what beat us. When our guards Johnson and Rice went out on personal fouls we were without capable replacements. That's where Kentucky had it on us, for they could substitute without weakening their lineup to any great extent."

Basketball Too Technical, Stegeman

BUSY WHISTLES STEALING GAME FROM PLAYERS

Georgia Athletic Director Scores Excessive Calling of Fouls.

By Ralph McGill.

Basketball has become too technical and now belongs to the coaches and officials instead of to the players and ectators, in the opinion of H. J. Stegeman, director of athletics at the University of Georgia.

Stegeman was one of those respon sible for the creation of the first big outhern basketball tournament, the A. A. U. meet in which colleges participated, and later the Southern con ference tournament which was held in Atlanta for several winters.

"I witnessed the play at Knoxville," he said, "and the game has become a succession of free throws at the basket.

"No sooner does the play get started than a foul is called and the two teams stop and walk to one end of the court or the other for a free

"The game was evolved to permit running, jumping and passing.
Coaches now have evolved so many technical plays which cannot be successful if there is the slightest bit of hodily content.

bodily contact,
"The idea of these plays seems to be that if they do not get a chance at two points by a goal they rt least will get a chance at half a goal by a free throw.

"There must have been about 200 free throws in the first two days of play at Knoxville in which only six games were played."

MISSED BY THREE.

MISSED BY THREE.

(A check revealed that Mr. Stegeman missed his guess by only three. There were 197 free throws at the basket in the first six games. One hundred were completed. Ninety-seven were missed. This was an average of almost 33 free throws per game or almost one for every minute of play.)

Stegeman further declared that in his opinion, basketball had been taken over by the coaches whose sole athletic connection was basketball.

"Basketball primarily is intended to supply the students who like to play it with an opportunity," he said. "Secondarily it is intended to provide entertainment for students who like to watch the game.

tertainment for students who like to watch the game.
"But coaches who are concerned only with basketball seem to have lost sight of that idea. They have made it so technical it is no longer as entertaining as it should be.

DON'T BE TECHNICAL. "In many instances we have asked coaches and officials not to be so technical and to go ahead and let the teams and the students enjoy the game. But always there are two or three coaches who will not agree.
"I think the game is being ruined as an entertaining game for spectators because of its highly technical nature."

Many leading athletic leaders have concurred in the same opinion. Officiating is not standardized. Adolph Rupp, of Kentucky's great basketball team, recently denounced officials for calling too many fouls and slowing up the game.

SUNDAY SPORTS

No effort has been made to halt the play of golf, tennis or swimming in the county. Baseball has been played for two seasons.

The Atlanta club does not operate the ball club on Sundays, It is operated by a committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The law says no owner of a business may conduct it on Sunday.

Charity has benefited tremendously from baseball. The Old Ladies' Home has been made more comfortable and many other charitable organizations have received concrete and long-needed improvements.

The baseball bill, which was re-ferred to the committee on county and county matters, reads as follows: county matters, reads as follows:

To be entitled an act to permit certain outdoor amusements, recreations and entertainments is be furnished and engaged in on the lord's Day in cities of 200,000 or more population, according to the last or any succeding federal census, and to repeal all laws and parts of any conflicting with the aversions of this clorgia, and it is hereby enacted by the substitution of the last of the company of the state of thorgia, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that from and after the passage of this act it shall be lawful in cities of 200,000 population or more according to the last or any subsequent federal census, to play or e.gased in outdoor amusements, recreations and entertainments, such as baseball, football, tennis, golf and the like, whether an admission charge is made or not. Baer probaly will answer Madison Square Garden's threat of legal action if he doesn't fight Bob Pastor March 19 by walking up the gangplank Wednesday and sailing to London for two fights and around $50,000.

That's the way the Baer-Garden dispute shaped up today, using however, only outward signs as a gauge on what's going on inside and that seemed to be plenty.

John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden Corporation, stated emphatically the Garden intends to "go the limit" to force Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, to fight the man who stayed 10 rounds with Joe Louis.

It may be the Garden is glad for the opportunity to test the validity dry after playing in Florida yester-day won two matches in straight sets. Senior. seeded fourth, disposed of John J. Morrison, Floral Park, N. Y., and J. Burke Wilkinson, West Orange,

IN LEGISLATURE

ALBANY, Ga., March 1.—(F)—An appeal for a new trial for Edgar Rose, convicted slayer of Tom Lewis, Dougherty county chain gang guard, will be filed with the state supreme court this week, it was announced to dar by Hugh Shackelford and Rosser Malone, defense attorneys.

Clearing away legal technicalities to permit baseball on Sunday in Atlanta was provided for in a bill introduced yesterday in the house of tepresentatives of the Georgia legislature by Representatives Hastings. Kendrick and Mrs. Mankin, of Fulton county.

The bill also would permit the playing of tennis and golf—all of which are played and have been played for years contrary to the old blue laws of the state.

No effort has been made to halt the play of golf, tennis or swimming in

STATE DEATHS

Claxton and Thomas, of Camden, who introduced the bill, follows:

"In introducing house bill No. 611 it is our intention to combat a situation which now exists in Georgia to edshow extent that it cannot be any longer ignored by he citizens of Georgia.

"Illegal bookmaking in Georgia has reached such proportions that each and every county in the state is affected. It has been conservatively estimated that over $100,000 per day is now being placed with the bookies. Of this was sum the state of Georgia is not receiving any income, the public in a great many instances are being misled; the type of people who operate these bookies are not permanent citizens; the followers of this sport are not protected. From all angles the situation demands that action be taken to stamp out this racket.

"There is a Camden, who introduced the bill, follows:

Purchase of Tickets To Help Liquidate Party Deficit, Urged of Democrats.

All Democrats who can possibly do so were urged, in a statement issued yesterday by Governor Rivers, in his capacity of national Democratic committeeman from Georgia, and by Mrs. Virginia Polhill Price, national Democratic committeewoman, to attend one of the Roosevelt Victory dinners to be given in Georgia next Thursday night.

The joint statement by the Gover-nor and Mrs. Price called on all party members to buy tickets as quickly as possible "both for the purpose of acknowledging our gratitude for the national Democratic victory and for the purpose of raising necessary funds" to take care of Georgia's part of the Democratic national committee's deficit.

crats should buy tickets even if they cannot attend a dinner. Enthusiastic appreciation was expressed of the splendid work of Cam Dorsey, state chairman, and Alex MacDougald, Atlanta and Fulton county chairman.

Dinner Here Thursday.

The Atlanta dinner has been set for 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the Piedmont Driving Club. Governor Rivers will preside and United States Senator Sherman Minton, of Indiana, will be the principal speaker. Atlanta dinner tickets are priced at $10 each and may be secured by personal application or by mail or telephone order at the Victory Dinner headquarters, Room 102 Henry Grady hotel.

Other Georgia dinners are set for Thursday in Savannah, Macon, Augusta, Columbus, Albany and Fitzgerald. The Athens dinner has been set for March 19 so that James Roosevelt, aide to his distinguished father, the President, may be honor guest.

Dorsey and MacDougald emphasized the fact that everyone is invited to these dinners and urged immediate reservations in order that all names may be included in the printed list of ticket purchasers to be sent to the national committee in Washington as a permanent record of Georgians who help pay the deficit.

The statement by Governor Rivers and Mrs. Price follows:

Joint Statement.

The statement by Governor Rivers and Mrs. Price follows:

"The Victory Dinner to be held at the Piedmont Driving Club, in the city of Atlanta at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening, March 4, is a significant event to the Democrats of Georgia for the reasons that it not only offers an opportunity for formally demonstrating our appreciation of the victory of the Democratic party in the national election but it offers a means of raising Georgia's part of the deficit of the national party. Such funds necessary to liquidate Georgia's part of the deficit as are not raised in this manner will have to be raised by solicitations. Solicitations are tedious and troublesome, both to the party, and naturally incur delays.

"We, therefore, urge all Democrats who possibly can do so to attend the dinner Thursday evening, both for the purpose of acknowledging our gratitude for the national Democratic victors of the restaurant, reported to police his supply of spare ribs was stolen from a locked refrigerator in front of his store.

DAUGHTER OF RAND FOE TAKES UP FAN DANCING

Mother of 'Darn Please' Girl Biffs Producer, Is Twice Ejected.

CHICAGO, March 1.—(UP)—A compromise solution was found to-night whereby Mary Belle Spencer. crusading woman lawyer who jousted legally over Sally Rand's Century of Progress fan dancing, came to terms in the matter of her daughter's deter-mination to follow in Sally's footsteps. Peace came to the Oriental theater's backstage after Mrs. Spencer had sock-ed the producer, been ejected twice, and issued bitter statements about the latest whim of the younger of her "darn please" daughters, Victoria.

"There is nothing so flattering as ostrich feathers." was what the the-ater management hoped would be Mrs. Spencer's last word on the subject. "and the way Victoria does the dance,

Atlanta Boy Attracts Attention

Of Artists and Movie Scouts

By Sally Forth.

It to New York two years ago to study art, but instead of ing good looking models, he attracted so much attention a good looks that McClelland Barclay chose him to pose for advertisements. And now he is under option to a famous prany, which has given him several screen tests. His name movie production, and never fails to prove interesting. HE went to New York two years ago to study art, but instead of drawing good looking models, he attracted so much attention by his own good looks that McClelland Barclay chose him to pose for important advertisements. And now he is under option to a famous moviz company, which has given him several screen tests. His name is Russell Thompson, and he's an Atlanta boy, the son of Mrs. Horace G. Thompson, who resides on Clifton road. Russell graduated from Georgia Tech in 1933, and while studying there he was chosen as the gold star student in architecture. He was also a member of Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternity. While he was interested in art and other studies, Russell told his mother recently that what he had always wanted to do was acting. But he has never been in a play, and he never joined the school dramatic clubs because he thought his parents would object. Now it seems that his life ambition is about to be realized. He is being coached by a teacher who has taught so famous a star as Katharine Hep-burn.

The events leading up to his movie option are most interesting. Russell had received many offers from screen companies in New York, but some ow he had al-ways preferred to be with certain well-known Hollywood pro-ducers. So he turned these offers down. Soon afterwards, Russell attended a gala "first nighter," at which there was a talent scout representing this certain company. And the scout spotted the handsome Mr. Thompson that evening and offered him a screen evening and offered him a screen test! Sounds like a movie story, doesn't it? Except that this one is really true. Mrs. Thompson relates a very amusing incident concerning the recent contest here for talented players for "Gone With the Wind." She sent a picture of Russell to the talent scouts here, and enclosed a letter, saying that her son lived in New York, but was an Atlanta boy. And she told her son nothing of this—it was her secret. But she received no reply from her letter, and naturally thought that the movie representatives were not at all impressed by the picture. one day a letter arrived from Russell, and the first thing he said was that he had seen the letter she wrote to the movie company. - A representative had gone to see him in New York and offered him a chance for a part in "Gone With the Wind." But Russell's option with another Holly-

YOUTH, 22, SENTENCED

FRIENDLY COUNSEL By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: A certain man has gone with a girl long enough to discover that he doesn't want to marry her and the time has come for them to marry if they ever intend to. He has told the girl that he couldn't continue to date her as they have had enough disagreements to convince him that they aren't congenial and couldn't be companionable in marriage. He has told her to mark him off and concentrate on somebody else. He has already found the girl he wants to marry and very soon, too. But—num-Denton Pierson, one of America's best-known astrologers. already found the girl he wants to marry and very soon, too. But—number one won't take no for an answer. She's in love with him and fighting for him. She is continually confronting him with the question: "Aren't you coming back?" What can he do? He doesn't want to wound her feelings; yet after several months silence on his part she hasn't lost hope. How long does it take a girl to realize she's lost out?

A FRIEND.

Answer: Not until the wedding bells have rung on the man's marriage to another will number one believe she's out of the race. And even after that she will still have a sneaking notion that the man really loved her best but didn't read his own heart correctly. Let a gal get the idea that the man she loves loves her and it is as hard to eradicate that idea from her head as it is to root out cane grass from a rich earth. It can't be done.

NUMBER 1111—You have many friends but few intimates. The indications are that you choose your friends with care and stick to them through thick and thin. You like best people who act with dignity at all times. Do not talk too freely concerning your private affairs, Take the advice of conservative people and avoid sudden and unexpected emergencies or mishaps that could make inroads on your bank account. Pride should keep a gal from pursuing a customer that's checked out and turned in his key but all the gals haven't their full quota of that indispensable commodity. Elementary knowledge of man nature should teach her that the minute she becomes a account.

NUMBER 909—You are inclined to travel much during your life and will make many journeys that will terminate in a profitable financial way for you. You are subject to taking long journeys suddenly, without much notice to anyone. If you will remember your dreams, you will find that many of them have a prophetic meaning. You would find it interesting to familiarise yourself with writings on the subject that you may interpret your dreams for yourself. This is a favorable period for relatives and neighbors and for dealing with them.

NUMBER 106—If you will take the proper rest and recreation, you need not worry about your health. Eat simple, plain, nourishing food and curb tendencies to high living. This is a constructive time for dealing with land and solving domestic problems. her that the minute she becomes her that the minute she becomes a chaser and lets a man know she's chasing him, that minute he has the impulse to run; but some poor gals are born with a minimum of feminine intuition and don't have thorough tuition in biology or psychology to help them steer a safe course.

Any man that's got an ex-gal hanging on to his coat tails while he is running after number two must realize that he's not safe until he reaches the altar with number two and the priest, minister or magistrate has pronounced them one.
CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield . I have a neighbors that are a pain in the neck. Everywhere I go I hear something nasty they have said about me. I have tried being triendly and visiting them and I have tried staying away and ignoring them but the talk goes on. What will stop their tongues?

A. H.

Answer: Try holding your own tongue, quit discussing your neighbors with friends and discourage their tale carrying. The more you stir the cooking turnips, the louder they smell. The more you discuss a breach between you and someone else the wider it becomes and the more people it involves. You can't beat dignified silence as a policy of personal protection. Refrain from mentioning a subject and your friends will refrain from mentioning it to you. Bring it up and you will hear not only what you wish to hear. Nine times out of ten prejudices and antagonisms are mutual; and if you dislike a neighbor, the neighbor dislikes you. If you talk about a person that same person talks about a person that same person talks about a person that doesn't talk about anybody. So when there's a disagreement or even when there's bad feeling between you and another, dignified silence is the best policy to pursue.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD. The quilt blocks may be set together with sashing, with alternate blocks of plain material or the design may be an all-over one. The effect will be different in every case. Nancy suggests that you piece about four blocks and then lay them together in different ways to see which one you like the best. An all-over pattern will bring four of the dark squares together, making sets of large squares throughout the quilt.

In piecing, use No. 60 white thread. Have a small firm knot in the thread. Take small stitches starting and ending the seam in one-quarter inch from best policy to pursue.
CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Perhaps you think this should be called March Wind. Look at the way the busy triangles push the corner squares around. They look as if the wind were at its friskiest and most March-like behavior.

Another name for this pattern instead of 'Follow the Leader' might be 'pin wheel.' But call it what you will, you must admit the pattern will be effective when made up into a mad flat without any difficulty. The quilt should be about 90 inches wide for a double bed, about $2 for a three-quarter size bed, and 72 for a single bed. The length is 106 inches if you plan to bring the quilt will be used for a spread. It is nice enough to do just that.

Direction leaflet for "Follow the Dear Miss Chatfield: Won't you Dear Miss Chatfield: Won't you express an opinion of a stenographer smoking cigarets while on duty in the office? In the case I refer to the office desk is cluttered up with ashes, cigaret ends, red with lipstick. Now izn't that enough to cause a wife to object? And won't it do damage to office morale?

WIFE AND DAUGHTER.

will, you must admit the pattern will be effective when made up into a quilt. The center square and the four corners will not be as dark as they are shown here. Otherwise they stand out like a sore thumb when the quilt is finished. But they should be considerably darker than the nin wheal corners iderably darker than the nin wheal As for a young woman's smoking in the office while in duty, it just isn't done in the best regulated offices, that's the answer. But when it comes to a wife's interfering with the manner in which her husband runs his office—that isn't done in the best regulated families either. You see men resent having their wives boss them at home, much more away from home. So when a woman tells her husband what she likes and what she doesn't she's gone as far as she can go without making herself a nagger and a nuisance. If he doesn't conform to her wishes once he knows them, she can't force him to conform. She can keep up a perpetual clatter which omake this quilt with a fairly rich dark blue for the squares and a dusty pink print for the triangles. Then the background would be white. One fammer planned to use ivory for background, printed yellow for the triangles and a figured henna print for the squares.

They clipped the picture and directions from the paper and pasted it in the Nancy Page quilt book. Then they sent for the direction leaflet. This has the pattern of tracing size.

After the design has been traced on lightweight cardboard the pieces are laid on the goods. Then with a sharp pencil the outline is traced. The cutting is done one-quarter inch beyond TO LIFE FOR SLAYING keep up a perpetual clatter which doesn't help but harts her cause. CAROLINE CHATFIELD. (Copyright, 1937, for The Constitution.)

My Day ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Sunday .- Friday night Miss Martha Graham, of New York, came down and danced for us after dinner. I asked her after-wards if it did not require the most tremendous amount of training to keep her body under such perfect control. She told me she had to work four hours every day, and that if she took six weeks off in summer it took her two months to regain what she had lost.

How few of us realize when we watch a performance that what may interest us for a short time requires so much hard work and devotion on the part of the artist. Miss Sidney Thompson did two of her sketches in costume, from Balzac and one from Guy De Maupassant. The combination of the two artists was quite delightful, for it brought the old days, in the person of Miss Thompson, in sharp contrast to probably the most modern expression of the dance we have, in the person of Miss Graham.

I went over to the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon to meet the Girl Reserves from 11 near-by cities who are holding a two-day conference here. I think these girls who live near Washington are very fortunate, for they have an opportunity to come in contact with a number of people who can give them really interesting experiences. For instance, yesterday Mrs. O'Day was in and gave them a talk on her trip to Buenos Aires.

My husband took all the gentlemen, including Franklin Jr.'s and John's friends, who are staying in the house with them, to the White House correspondents' dinner. It was most kind and hospitable of this being instinctively resents any sort group of correspondents to include so many of our guests. I was much interested to hear the comments of the younger members of the house-hold today, who seem to have had the time of their lives.

John and I hope to get a ride in this afternoon, and tonight we are celebrating his twenty-first birthday. The actual date is March 13, but my husband hopes he will be in Georgia by that time, I will be on a lecture trip, and John himself cannot be here, so we decided that as we had so many of the family here this week end it was a good time to do the celebrating of his coming of age.

Only in marriage, but in any other relationship in life.

However, when a person gives freely and generously of the best that is in him, he can forget all about this business of holding.

The wife, therefore, who gives of here love and devotion and loyalty the utmost possible, will arouse equal love and devotion and loyalty in her husband. He will continue to be devoted even when the years have changed here and she no longer has the youth and prettiness that first attracted him. I am always very much amused at the advice given women to look alluring and glamorous for their husbands. Every man wants, of course, to have

EAT WHAT YOU LIKE.

"Everybody talks about heaven sin't goin' there" . . and everybody who talks about reducing doesn't get salim!

It's a lot easier to talk about reducing than it is to plug along on a diet. There is no disputing that weight can be reduced by the simple process of taking less food than is used in energy. But when you get down to the actual business of dieting, you find it a complex problem, consisting of about three parts psychology and only one part calorie cutting.

It is human nature to object to having anything taken away from one, particularly food. A diet lacking in all your favorite dishes is not apt to last long enough to affect your weight. Almost before you realize what you are doing you will be half-way through 350 calories of apple pie!

There are no born reducers, and diet doesn't come easy to anyone. To jump this psychological hurdle, don't the complete procession. It is too near the normal. On it, however, there will be less talk and more weight lost. Try it!

When and if I ever sign a new contract, I'll insist on vacation between pictures." Taylor's present contract, now yielding a $3,500 weekly salary, has another seven 'years to run. "I'm glad I have Barbara (Stanwyck) with me in this picture," he concludes. "It's much easier working with—and kissing—people one knows."

The slave ship is absent from the sound stage filming the movie of that title. But there is sea and sky—on a title. But there is sea and sky—on a "process" screen—i. e., a white screen on which is projected the required background. The clouds are green. Warner Baxter explains why: "They have been filtered to make them stand out from the sky." According to Baxter, the technical end of movie-making is worthy of the most praise. "The things that can be done are simply amazing," he says. "For instance, I walk in front of a screen, waving to nothing. Limited Rallies in Metal Shares Feature of Session.

NEW YORK, March 1.—(R)— Limited rallies in a few metal shares stood out as the most prominent phase of an otherwise narrow curb market instances. Gains and losses about balanced.

Although a fairly good number of stocks changed hands, fluctuations were held to minor fractions in most instances. Gains and losses about balanced.

Newmont Mining went forward at a steady clip and finished 3 points higher at 132 and Aluminum Company of America advanced 2 1-4 to 164 1-2. Oil shares also worked higher groupwise, although gains were comparatively small. Gulf Oil and International Petroleum each rose 3-4 of a point to 57 1-2 and 38 1-2, respectively. Columbia Oil & Gas, Creole and Sunray were slightly higher. Closing lower were McWilliams Dredging off 3-4 to 36 3-4, Wayne Pump off 5-8 at 43 1-2, Electric Bond & Share dropped 7-8 to 24 3-8 and Chicago Flexible Shaft lost 1-2 to 72 1-2. Market Outlook By MAX BUCKINGHAM.

By MAX BUCKINGHAM.

(Convright, 1937, by United Press.)
NEW YORK, March 1.—(UP)—
Steel shares, particularly United States Steel, whose common stock made a new high since 1931, was the main feature of the stock market today...
American Iron & Steel Institute reported production schedule this week at 85.8 per cent of capacity, a gain of 3.3 points over the previous week.
This rate carried steel production near the all-time high made in May, 1929. The rate indicates production this week of around 1,123,795 gross tons, the greatest output since June, 1929, when the weekly average was
1,142,880 gross tons.

In the 1929 month the theoretical capacity was smaller than that used now—1,309,784 gross tons being used as 100 now—so that the operating capacity was smaller than that used now—1,309,784 gross tons being used 74 as 100 now—so that the operating rate in the 1929 week was 97.7 per cent of capacity.

Announcement that Carnegie-Illinois, chief operating subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, would confer with employes' representatives—a move indicating a possible pay rise offer—the steel turned strong. United States steel common advanced to 115 1-2, a gain of 4 1-4 points for the day and 37 1-2 points since the first of the year. Sloss-Sheffield rose 11 points 1064 and other steel shares gained fracyear. Sloss-Sheffield rose 11 points and other steel shares gained fractions to 2 points.

Meanwhile the rest of the market was nervous. Motor shares weakened. Copper issues ran into profit-taking as the price of export copper dipped.

as the price of export copper dipped.
Some utilities were nervous although American Telephone & Telegraph strengthened on the excellent 1936
earnings report.
Rails still are considered by most traders as a good barometer for the market and these followers are waiting for the corrient to weak through market and these followers are waiting for the carriers to push through the October, 1936, highs. Some leading carriers strengthened in early trading today but near the close showed signs of weakening.

Behind the railroad position is the continued improved business. Private forecasts are that traffic in the first quarter this year may be about 15 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1936 period. However, annual earnings statements show the increasing operating costs of the carriers and beings statements show the increasing operating costs of the carriers and because workers are expected to make sizable wage demands in the next few months caused traders to be extremely selective in making railroad commitments.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—Remain builish on old futures. Deferred months probably will lag unless we have adverse weather.

BEER & CO.—In both wheat and corn the underlying situation continues to look builish, although the prospect for a good winter wheat crop is, in our opinion, bright.

FENNER & BEANE—We think old crop position is increasing in strength.

E. A. PIERCE & CO.—We believe Winnipeg wheat will continue to show more strength than Chicago.

Women came, bringing food and drink. The cere-monial gourd was presented to Udalo. He raised it to his lips. His throat moved, as if he were drinking, but none of the liquor passed his lips. Muviro, however, took a long gulp and passed it to the next Waziri.

When all the strangers had drunk, food was set before them. Muviro did not eat. Instead, he was looking, glassy-eyed, at his men. What had gone wrong with his eyes? Everything was blurred. His warriors sat with stony stares, their bodies weaving drunkenly.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Muviro's brain whirled, but he retained enough realize that he and his men h sense to betrayed. He staggered to his feet, seized his long knife and whipped it from his loincloth. "Kill!" he cried. "We have been poisoned." Then he

TRADE AGREEMENT ACT IS SIGNED BY ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(P)—President Roosevelt signed today legislation extending for three years from next June 12 his authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements with foreign nations.

Under the new law, such agreements do not require senate ratification.

The original act, which expires on June 12, was put forward by the administration in 1934 "as a means of assisting in restoring the American standard of living" through increased foreign trade.

Conditions in Georgia Scored by Sanford

Georgia's natural resources and wealth are not being utilized to improve social and economic conditions in the state, according to Chancellor S. V. Sanford, of the University System of Georgia, in a talk before the Atlanta Lions Club yesterday. Chancellor Sanford said "the Jeffersonian basis for a free democracy is largely gone. An equivalent base, in terms of an industrial organization of society, is yet to be born.

"Low incomes, wretched homes, inadequate diets and generally poor conditions exist in Georgia because of unintelligent and antisocial civilization of the physical endowment of the state."

Other Reports Reveal 23 Men Killed in Guanajuato Battle.

mexico City, March 1.—(R)—
Reports that residents of Xalatlaco,
State of Mexico, put to death seven soldiers there today were received here tonight at the same time as belated dispatches from Ciudad Gonzalez, Guanajuato, described the death of 23
men in a bloody battle between soldiers and outlaws.

Advices from Xalatlaco said the 800 residents of the village became incensed at reports the government intended to divert to other uses the water that irrigated their fields. When 11 soldiers arrived to maintain order, the villagers killed seven of the soldiers, the advices said, slashing and cutting their bodies.

The Guanajuato battle, dispatches said, occurred Friday when 40 armed men raided the Roque ranch, near the village of Cienguita and engaged federal troops quartered there.

Masquerading as policemen, two white men last night made a negro delivery boy "pull over" with his motorcycle on Lullwater road and The Byway and later robbed him of $8.

James H. Thomas, of 214 Forrest street. Decatur, the delivery boy, reported to police the two men drove up beside him in an automobile while he was making a delivery and told him to stop, declaring they were policemen. He was forced in the car at the point of a gun and robbed after being driven some distance out Johpson road.

Bolton Man Who Guessed Identity

Of Purple Cross Head 'Wins' Ride

All the Way From His Home to The Constitution Winner Will Be 'Toted' in Wheelbarrow by Loser Who Didn't Think Gang Leader Was 'Shirtsleeve' Kelton.

If you will just let us know what time the wheelbarrow and its occupant will arrive, we'll be looking for you. And thanks for your interest in our comics. We, too, think they are swell. And we find that thousands of others are interested in them, too.

The bet is perfectly legal. No money is involved. And that makes it on the up-and-up. And so, we'll be expecting you. If the loser makes good. Now, suppose we tell the people all about it.

Many letters arrive at The Constitution.

MRS. ROOSEVELT CITES SLUM AREA CONDITIONS

ANNAPOLIS. Md., March 1.—(P) Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told the Naval Academy Women's Club today that slum areas cost much in taxes to care for the insane, crippled and diseased human beings they produce. She declared that in many rural disricts a mother has become a beast of burden, of little use to her children beyond mere physical care," because she is worn out from bringing in water and doing other household

Locomotive Stops Fleeing Liquor Car

A Southern Railway locomotive yesterday joined the current police crusade against vice and whisky.

Shortly after noon Radio Patrolmen P. E. Edwards and J. D. Etheridge spotted a "suspicious auto" on Georgia avenue and as they attempted to pull up alongside the driver accelerated his speed. The police car started in pursuit but the chase ended suddenly and quite definitely at the McDaniel street railway crossing when a switch en-definitely at the McDaniel street railway crossing when a switch engine blocked the street.

In the automobile the officers found a gallon of whisky and J. W. Peek, 21. a negro, of 327 Connally street. He was charged with violating the prohibition law and the car was confiscated.

Dick Tracy has his followers who worry themselves nearly to death about what the Purple Cross boys might have done to their handsome detective hero. Smitty, Moon Mullins, the Gumps and all the many heroes and heroines of The Constitution's comics have their loyal followers.

It looks pretty tough right now for the electric chair. And just when he had reformed, too.

At any rate, the Dick Tracy comic strip teaches the lesson that crime does not pay; that the police are the heroes and the criminals the losers by an overwhelming majority defeathered by an overwhe
